Eleanor W. Grande Prairie

When we moved into our current home the existing carpeting throughout was of good quality but was in need of a real good cleaning. To save money the first years I rented a home carpet shampoo system. The results were passable but for the amount of time and effort it took I was not satisfied. It took my husband pushing the heavy noisy machine around the living room to decide he didn't like this method at all and that I should get a service in. About 11 years ago I booked an appointment from an advertisement in the mail. This was with Jared Wilson's company, Jardis Cleaning Services. We have never again rented a machine or gone to another carpet cleaning service. When visitors to our home thought we had new carpets installed we knew we had found a winning business. The difference before and after was huge! Each year since we have never been disappointed. From the friendly, helpful receptionist (Candice) on the phone, to who I now call 'the magic man' Jared, we are so glad to have this professional service on our GO TO list. The end result of having cleaner, brighter, fresher smelling carpets is so satisfying that we have no interest in looking to get new flooring just yet. I book the next cleaning early enough now to ensure that I can get the same friendly, reliable and professional service before Jardis Cleaning Services gets booked up. I highly recommend the name to anyone who has asked – and even those who haven't but could use it.

An oriental area carpet that had been in our home for over 30 years was beginning to show age from wear and tear of a busy household. The beautiful colors and intricate design were being lost under years of dirt and grime that I could not vacuum or wash out. My daughter recommended the gentleman who cleans her carpets. However I was concerned that a big commercial machine would cause the colors to fade or run and that many feet of hand ties tassels to shred or pull out. Realizing that not doing anything was also damaging the carpet I finally agreed to have it picked up for cleaning. I will admit that when Mr. Wilson unrolled the carpet after that initial cleaning I had a hard time believing it was the same one I had sent away. The different colors of blue, rose, pink and soft greens and mauves were all revealed again, the colors and design that had made me fall in love with the carpet in the first place. The previous grimy tassels were restored to a creamy white again and none were stretched out of shape or missing. So now every year I get it cleaned by Jared. The care and attention he puts into cleaning this beloved Oriental is so appreciated, and ensures that it will have pride of place for many years to come.

I have used Jared Wilson(now Jardis Cleaning Services) for the last 10 years sanitizing my carpets, upholstery in my house and trailer. My son has allergies and therefor it is necessary for my carpets to be cleaned. His service to us has only been a total blessing, always on time and consistent in the quality of excellent cleaning. Jardis Cleaning Services would be an excellent referral to clients when it comes to cleaning their carpets and upholstery. Carina D.
